

November 2026 Newsletter

Now under one umbrella...

Kisspanish & La Ventana de Español

Learn the Language - Live the Language

www.kisspanish.com

History & Culture

"Where the past lives on"

La Sobremesa

The Art of Staying a Little Longer

In the United States, we often think of a meal as something to finish. In Mexico, the best part may begin after the last bite. Known as sobremesa, this cherished tradition is the time spent lingering around the table, sharing stories, laughter, and conversation with family and friends.

Take Me to This Lesson

As Thanksgiving approaches, sobremesa reminds us that gathering is about more than food. Long after the turkey is gone and the dishes are cleared, the conversations that unfold around the table often become the memories we treasure most.

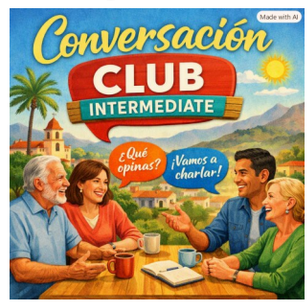

Wishing You a Happy Thanksgiving

Language

"From Virtual to Reality"

Use what you've learned in real situations. Build confidence, fluency, and connection through conversation.

Explore Zoom Classes

Beginner Conversation and Intermediate Conversation classes provide a relaxed, supportive environment where you'll build confidence, improve fluency, and start enjoying real conversations in Spanish..

Spanish Toolbox

Unlocking Mystery Words

See this Toolbox

le, lo, la,* and les?

Those tiny words can make a sentence look intimidating, but they actually help Spanish flow more naturally. In this month's Toolbox, we'll unlock the mystery of Indirect and Direct Object Pronouns

As Mexico celebrates Día de los Muertos, I'm already thinking about where we could be this time next year...

Save the Date: Día de los Muertos in San Miguel de Allende, Oct. 29–Nov. 3, 2027

More details coming soon!

Travel

Where Language Meets Life

Save 10% sign up by Nov 15th

El Porche de Don Ernesto

El Camino de Pétalos

Don Ernesto ve a Canela caminar lentamente hacia la casa abandonada.
La gata sigue el sendero de pétalos naranjas sin detenerse.
—Bueno, si tú vas, yo también voy —dice Ernesto mientras la sigue.
La puerta está abierta. Adentro encuentra a Doña Elena, sentada junto a una mesa llena de flores de cempasúchil.
—¡Doña Elena! ¿Qué hace aquí?
Ella sonríe. —Preparando flores para el altar de la comunidad.
El viento llevó los pétalos hasta tu casa.
Don Ernesto respira aliviado. Así que ese era el misterio.
Entonces ve una fotografía antigua sobre la mesa.
Señala a una mujer en el fondo.
—¿Quién es ella?
Doña Elena mira la foto. —Yo no sabo.
Canela la observa fijamente.
Doña Elena ríe. —Bueno, sí sé quién es... pero no recuerdo su nombre.
Don Ernesto vuelve a mirar la foto.
Quizás ese será el próximo misterio.

Did you find the mistake? Did you find the mistake in last month's chapter?

Reply to this letter and let me know how you're doing. Hasta Luego...

Note our new email address: holakisspanish@gmail.com